The CarePack contains knowledge for customers on how to make small healthy choices every day that can add up to some noticeable healthy changes, like weight loss and better numbers at your next doctor's visit. It features healthier products that consumers see on store shelves but may be hesitant to try along with information on 'why' they are healthier options, recipes on 'how' to use, samples to try for yourself, and coupons to further incentivize. Good health also has some level of fitness and overall general health and well-being. Therefore, this gift of good health also contains tips to get moving in the form of challenges, maps or buddy agreements, as well as risk assessments to bring awareness of potential health exposures.
